

Got Guts? Pig Descriptions

Tear and chop food.

Muscle contractions force food through this tube and into the stomach.

Muscles mix the food with acids and enzymes, breaking it into smaller, more digestible pieces.

A tube-like structure that absorbs nutrients into the bloodstream.

Removes water and minerals from the undigested matter and forms solid waste that can be excreted.